ITEMS OF NEWS.

Gov. Hamilton, the military Governor of Texas, turned up in Washington last week. He favors Butler's return to New Orleans, and the sending of Banks to Texas.

It may not be generally known that Mrs. Lincoln has contributed more than any lady in Washington from her private purse, to alleviate the sufferings of our wounded soldiers, and it is but just to add that day by day her carriage is seen in front of the hospitals, where she distributes with her own hands delicacies prepared in the kitchen of the White House. The fear of contagion and the odors of pestilence had unheeded upon the care of those whose missions are mercy.

Where the Boats Were.—A delicately written note was picked up the other day, not far from Main street, running thus:

"Dearest—Your boots are inside of the garden fence, under a pile of straw. Don't come any more. The old man swears he will blow the top of your head off."

Under the circumstances, we advise "Dearest" to let the boots rip—Philly (Glad) News.

St. Louis, the favorite American comedian, has just played the character of Lord Dunsinore, in the comedy of "Our American Cousin," for the 25th time, at the Haymarket Theater, London. This is the greatest histrionic triumph since the days of Liston.

The Dictator, a new Hudson river steamboat now building at New York, will be completed only in the summer, will be the largest river steamboat afloat, containing 450 state rooms, and with an overall length of 400 feet. She is to be finished in the finest style, and to take the place of the New World between Albany and New York.

The Eight Census shows that the rebel States lost only 458 fighting slaves during the ten years from 1850 to 1860. South Carolina, which began this unholy war, lost 30 slaves in that time, or one in 17,501 of her whole number. No other species of property in the United States was so over so safe and well protected as in human beings; and yet the slave-owners rebelled. Can any judgment be too severe against the distributors of a nation's peace?

General John McNeill, whose surrender to the rebel authorities for the purpose of being hung has been demanded by Jeff. Davis, made his appearance, a few days since, in the Missouri House of Representatives, and was received with marked respect by that body. The House took a recess for ten minutes, and Gen. McNeill was invited to the Speaker's stand, and requested to address the representatives, which he did.

Orpheus C. Kerr, in one of his letters from Washington, is severe on Brigadiers. He says:

"Captain, there's something missing from the rear guard."

Villain assumed a thoughtful demeanor, and says:

"Is a miss fire?"

"No," said the Lieutenant, sagaciously, "we miss fire."

"Not missing," said Villain, "but we miss fire."

"Why not?" said Villain, "with this cannon, I can't tell you that you miss fire."

"It's not the cannon," said Villain, "but the men."

"What?" said Villain, "the men?"

"Yes," said Villain, "the men."

"What?" said Villain, "the men?"

"Yes," said Villain, "the men."

LATEST SOUTHERN NEWS.

RETIROU.

In the Confederate Senate, on the 26th of January, Mr. Yancey made a speech opposing President Davis' retiral order, transferring federal officers to the State authorities, to be tried by State courts, for insubordination. He declared that he would not be satisfied until it should be certain, fixed and effective. The Richmond Examiner, speaking of retiral, sarcastically observes that the President will have to "retire to some combination," in the matter of retiral, as the federal officers have Southern officers prisoners that the South has of federal officers. We don't think there will be much retiral, just yet.

FINANCIAL.

A statement of the Secretary of the Treasury, to the 25th of December, shows that in Treasury notes, total, $410,678,510; redeemed, $39,193,479.50; outstanding, $410,485,030.50. The amount of stocks and bonds outstanding on the 1st of January, 1863, was $145,230,770.

Seventy-five patents were issued by the U. S. A. during 1862, 20 of which were to Virginia, 10 to Mississippi, and the remainder to the other States.

"Haggan" Foster's still harping here. In the House, on the 26th ult., he made a speech denouncing the loyalty (to the South) of Maryland. He was in favor of any political confederation with the States of the Northwest. He had been misrepresented in this respect. He was in favor of a military league, offensive and defensive, with any of the Northwestern States that would lay down their arms, and he would assist and protect such State against the power of the Lincoln Government. He thought that the proper remedy for the Northwest was that it should be disjoined from New England and the Middle States in this war in less than sixty days.

Footie then offered a long series of resolutions on peace. They sound the idea of reconstruction, and declare that the South will not even consent to an armistice until the Proclamation is withdrawn. In case that is done, a commercial treaty will be entered into with all the States save New England, and the free navigation of the Mississippi guaranteed.

DESTRUCTION.

A Richmond soldier, a correspondent of the Southern Register, published at Millersville, Georgia, in speaking of an effort of the citizens of Richmond to make clothing for the soldiers, remarked:

"The people were slow to move; like Thomas of old, they required to be shown the bleeding feet of the suffering soldiers before they would believe. This painful proof was furnished by the brigade of Gen. Evans, last Thursday, when many of the men marched through the city in a snow storm, in bare feet, and a donation to the committee appointed to select subscriptions, and expressed his gratification that the people were thus aiding the Government in the duty of providing for their troops. Mr. Secretary Meminger, on the contrary, refused to give anything, saying that the whole movement was a reflection on the Government."

Greely on Mediation and the War.

Horace Greeley is reported, and we believe in some manner or other, does favor the mediation of a foreign power to settle the difficulties between the North and South. Switzerland is the empire he would select. In Friday's Tribune he gives his views on the prospects of the war, and seems to think that the whole matter will be decided one way or the other within the next four months.

1. We believe that the war for the Union has now entered upon a phase which in all probability must prove final. The war is now a contest of arms, and the result will be decided by the sword.

2. We believe that the rebels are about to be badly whipped at several points, and that their defeat will be conclusive that any impartial empire would thereupon advise them that their enterprise is hopeless, and that they ought to give it up.

3. We believe that, if our armies do not win their, their will win ours. The President is the empire, and we are on the eve of movements, combinations, attacks, battles, where the result must be well nigh decisive.

4. We believe that the rebels are about to be badly whipped at several points, and that their defeat will be conclusive that any impartial empire would thereupon advise them that their enterprise is hopeless, and that they ought to give it up.

THE N. Y. EVENING POST.—The prospect of this old and popular Journal will be found elsewhere. In common with all Eastern Journals, the price of the Post has been raised, but it still retains its pre-eminence as an interesting and reliable newspaper.

HEALTH.—Dr. O'Brien, Esq., has consented to deliver a lecture on Friday evening next for the benefit of the St. Vincent de Paul, a benevolent society—the proceeds to be given to the poor. Mr. O'Brien announces his subject to be "Humbly," which will afford good food for the wit and sparkling humor of the lecturer.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT.—The most rigid analysis by good chemists has failed to discover anything in the Chemical Salve which can, when properly used, be in the least degree detrimental to health. While the women of our country entertain sentiments widely different upon other matters, all concur in a verdict that the Chemical Salve is the only infallible article in use for light and sweet blood.

WHEELER AND WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES.—We refer our readers who may be in want of an excellent sewing-machine to the advertisement of Mr. Johnson in today's paper. Wheeler & Wilson's machines are so well known that they need a word of praise. The writer of this item has used one in his family for three years, fully saving its cost each year. Those who want a perfect machine should stop at Mr. J. M. Johnson, Greenleaf's Block.

PERSONAL.—We are glad to notice the arrival from Washington, of our old friend, Arthur B. Morris, Esq., who has recently received the appointment of Assistant Quartermaster in the army, with the rank of Captain. None of the army appointments recently made has been received with more cordial satisfaction by the citizens of St. Paul, where Captain Morris has resided for the last eight years, and where he is a universal favorite. We believe he is a brother of Gen. Morris, of Fort Mifflin fame, and a descendant of Governor Morris, of historic memory—and given a fair field, will we feel, sustain the ancestral honors of the name.

MILITARY.—We were pleased to see at the International yesterday, our old friend, Capt. Nathan S. Messick, of Co. G, First Regiment. The gallant Captain looks reasonably well after his tough campaign of almost two years, this being his first absence from his company in that time. He is on sick leave now, and returned to recruit his health. Captain Messick says his company has more men on service than any other company in the regiment, which is now heartily rejoiced in numbers. Captain M. has been through two wars now, and we hope may be spared to enjoy his well-earned laurels through a long life.

We learn that Lieutenant Sam. T. Regent, late of Company A, First Regiment, and more recently of Gen. Goeman's staff, has resigned and is on his way home.

FRESH OVERSEAS.—Last received, and will be posted daily. Also, killed, killed, killed. Vol. Outlets, then and Eggs, served up in the most manner. Bakers and Wine of all kinds. At the old Spaulding Restaurant, opposite the American House.

E. N. HUNT, Proprietor.

HOME CORRESPONDENCE.

Settlers on Railroad Land—A Protest against High Prices therefor.
Editors of the St. Paul Press:
Several petitions, numerously signed, have been sent to the present Legislature asking for a memorial to Congress that persons who were settled on railroad land before the survey, &c., of the road, and also, that persons who after such survey, on railroad land, were allowed to settle, and then were discovered by public officers, should have right to enter such land, or have the benefits of the Homestead Law thereon. These petitions were referred to the committee on public lands, in the House, which committee reported that nothing ought to be done in consequence thereof; and that report was approved by the House, a few days ago.

Is there really no need of doing any thing in the matter? To them that know all about it, there can be no doubt that the land sales, in the fall of 1860, were illegal, because some of the land (within six miles of the railroad lines, to which Congress before had granted land) was not at all proclaimed for sale by the President, only a "Commissioner's notice," signed by J. S. Wilson, issued thereafter, which notice was dated the 19th of September, and the sales should commence on the 31st of October—that is, only forty-two days after the notice was dated, and about one month after it reached the local Land Office. The President's Proclamation for the sales of other lands was dated a few days more than three months before the sales, but it was not advertised so soon, and did not reach the local Land Office more than a little over two months before the commencement of the sales. This Proclamation was so written that nobody could imagine that settlers on odd sections were required to pay; and, finally, also, indeed, a separate "explanation" came from the Government. It is not right, not equitable, and, after all, not lawful to sell public lands on so short notice. In the remotest parts of the country, without mail communications, many probably did not know of the sale until it was over. According to law, it is the duty of a claimant to file his claim within three months after the date of the land, whereon he has settled, reaches the local Land Office, if the land was so lately surveyed that the settlers were not at the office when he settled on it. In analogy therewith, at least three months notice ought to be given for a sale, which is of so much more importance.

Two years ago the Legislature enacted that persons settled on land in odd sections before the railroad companies had any claims on such lands, should have the right to buy them of the railroad companies for one dollar and a quarter per acre. One year ago this price was raised to two dollars and a half per acre, for land within six miles of the railroad lines; and if following Legislatures have the right to raise the price when they please, the persons to whom the land was given for one dollar and a quarter per acre, may have to pay ten dollars, or more, before they get it. That such legislation is entirely unjust, is clear, and it is no wonder that people lose all confidence in the laws and their makers. For those who were allowed to file on Railroad Land by the neglect or avarice of the Register at the United States Land Office, there is, then, no remedy. They have to give up their years of residence, with all the improvements, if they do not choose, or are unable to pay the exaggerated prices that the Railroad Companies certainly will demand when they get title to the land. Is that just? Is it reasonable?

Nearly as unreasonable is it to make people pay two and one-half dollars per acre for land in even sections within six miles of the railroad lines, as surveyed, because the roads may never be built where surveyed, or, at least, not very soon—most of them, probably, not in twenty years. This State with its cold and long winters does not, notwithstanding its beautiful lakes and generally good soil, offer so great inducements to immigration, that they will come here in spite of all our bad laws and regulations; so that if this is not remedied, the State will soon have more failures than it has had twenty years ago—not so many, when the Indians infamously are to be driven out, because they tried to get their rights, for which they could not get them peacefully, instead of punishing the Agents, traders, and others, who have cheated them, and prevent such for the future.

are awaiting orders from headquarters. A guard is constantly kept over them and they are made to wait on themselves, as Capt. Taylor is not upon such friendly terms with Indians of any kind as to allow men under his command to chop wood and carry water for them.

The detachment was out in very severe weather three days, and would have made further search if they had not run out of provisions. By the way, please inform the Minnesota Union that the other claim has not been stolen, but is in the quiet and peaceful possession of Capt. McCoy, waiting for its owner to call for it.

Now, sir, the above are the facts, out of which those St. Cloud papers wish to make so much capital. Why they have an antipathy to Capt. McCoy, they only know, or can know, for we who are here and have been with him, and believe that we know him better than strangers can know another, look upon all such attempts to vilify and defame the conduct and character without cause, of any man, and especially a soldier, who is trying to aid and assist in quelling this unholy rebellion, and Indian massacre, with disgust, and too contemptible to be countenanced by any good citizen.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM H. PARIST,

24 Saint, Co. H., 8th Reg. Min. Vols.
